was then heard. The Attorney-General, who appeared for the plaintiff, read the pleadings that had been filed and the correspondence at length, when he was asked by the Chief Justice what power the Court had to grant the relief asked for. He referred in reply to Broker's Equitable Jurisprudence, quoted passages in support of his contention that it had such power. He could not, how ever, entisfy his Bordship, who, whilst abstaining from giving any decision on the point, intimated in no ambiguous terms that in his opinion he had no authority either to compel the defendants to execute a deed of cancellation or, which would have answered the plaintiff's purpose equally well, to make a decree that the defendants had no interest in the property comprised in the agreement, and that the relief sought could only granted by the consent of the parties. After such an intimation from the Bench the plaintiff had no option but to come to, the confound that his title depended for its clearance upon the consent of the defendants, a consent which the latter refused to give unless their costs were paid. There was nothing for it but to give way if the agreement was to be cancelled, and this the plaintiff did, thus learning that, after having endeavoured in vain to get the defendants in the first instance to release the premises without proceedings, and having been forced into Court, the Court had no assistance to give him, and that his title was practically at the mercy of the defendants, who would do nothing for him unless he consented to be

mulcted in costs. This may be the law of the Colony, and, as his Lordship has intimated that it is so, we have no reason to doubt it, but it is not justice from an ethical point of view, and the sconer the Legislature history of the great Chinese pirate who sucintervenes to prevent such a hardship occurring again the better. The Attorney-General stated in Court that there are some hundreds of titles against which agreements have been registered in this Colony. These are no doubt in the main agreements for purchase, and apparently as the law now stands no vender of an agreement can, through the aid of the Court, remove from his title any contract registered there, which he has cancelled on account of his purchaser's default, for currency in the country. Hongkong Rope Manufacturing Company, Limited—$50 per share. Chinese Imperial Loan of 1881—I per cent. dis. WHAT IS THIS DISEASE THAT IS COMING UPON US? Like a thief at night it steals in upon us unswares. Many persons have pains about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back. They feel dull and sleepy; the month has a bad teste, especially in the morning. A sort of sidely slime collects about the testh. The appetite is poor. There is feeling like a heavy load on the stomach: sometimes a faint all-gone sensation at the pit of the stomach which food does not estisfy. The eyes are sunken, the hands and feet become cold and feel clammy. After a while a cough sests in at first dry, but after a few months it is attended with a greenish coloured expectoration. The afflicted one feels tired all the while, and sleep does not seem to afford any rest. After a time he becomes nervous, irritable, and gloomy, and has evil forebodings. There is a giddiness, a sort of whirling sensation in the head when rising up—suddenly. The bowels become costive; the skin dry and hot at times; the blood becomes thick and stagnant; the whites of the eyes become tinged with yellow, the mrine is seanty and high-coloured, depositing a sediment after standing. There is frequently a spitting up of the food, sometimes with a sour taste, and sometimes with a sweetish teste; this is frequently attended with palpitation of the heart; the vision becomes impaired with spots before the eyes; there is a feeling of great prostration and weakness. ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN Pronunciation.

An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service 3.00 P.M.—Mails closed, except for Late Letters. this Work stands unrivalled. All the new 3.10 P.M.—Letters may be posted with late fee words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, 3.40 p.m.—Late Letters may be posted on board and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given. Post Cards, each the accents being carefully marked on the best Books, Patterns, and Commercial? principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterised Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:---Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 18,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English. words, and nowards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammers and other elementary works as yet published the atudent of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hithert pub-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English Hongkong to communicate effectively with natives who 7.00 A.M. understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-
